

Una conversación difícil

- 1 Es viernes y son las siete de la noche. Generalmente me gusta estar con mis amigos los fines de semana. ¿Adónde vamos mis amigos y yo? Al centro comercial. Al cine. Al parque, donde jugamos al fútbol americano o, en el invierno, al gimnasio, donde jugamos al básquetbol o al vóleibol.
- 2 Pero mañana, no. Mañana me gustaría ir de pesca con papá. Es un día muy especial: es su cumpleaños.
- ¿Papá?
 —Sí, Roberto.
 —Papá, me gustaría...
 —Sí, Roberto. Te gustaría ir al parque.
 Lo siento, pero estoy cansado.
 —No, papá. Quiero ir al campo con...

—A ver... Quieres ir al campo con Ramón y su familia mañana. Estoy ocupado, Roberto. Puedes hablar con tu mamá...

—¡No, no, papá! Quiero ir de pesca...

—¿De pesca? ¿Cómo vas a ir de pesca? No puedes ir solo. ¿Con quién vas a ir de pesca?

—Contigo, papá. Quiero pasar el día de tu cumpleaños contigo.

—¿Conmigo? ¿Mi cumpleaños? ¡No me digas!

—¿No vas a estar ni cansado ni ocupado, papá?

—No, no, Roberto. ¿Quién puede estar cansado en su cumpleaños? Pero sí voy a estar ocupado. Voy a ir de pesca contigo.

EXPLAIN

This year Roberto may not have bought his father a birthday present. As far as his father is concerned, however, Roberto is giving him the best gift possible. There is a common English expression that says, “It's the thought that counts.” Briefly explain this expression in relation to the story and give an example from your own experience.
